

Hello, dear readers.
This is Moon Jung-ho.

I've been so busy that I couldn't even learn a greeting during the Christmas holidays, yet here I am, writing this out of the blue.

I recently noticed that Quon has been serialized for over a year. (I had a vague idea that it was pretty close to that, but only after reading congratulatory comments from readers did I know for sure. Thanks for your kind words :D)

Finishing a chapter took a great deal out of us every week, but we were able to come this far thanks to your overwhelming interest and support.

Our original plan was to draw lengthy chapters in the first few weeks and gradually reduce that to a manageable length as we continued the serialization, but we were so drunk on your encouragements and compliments that we just kept on going at full speed, notching ourselves every week.

But it seems we've finally reached our limit, as lately it constantly feels that our bodies and minds are at the breaking point.

...So we'd like to take a break, just for a week.

It might be a long week for you, but we'll do our best to recharge our physical and mental energy during this break, so we can go hard at it once again.

At the beginning of the year, I left a message, hoping that Quon would give you enjoyment and cheer you up, but we ended up reaching for greater encouragement and comfort from our readers. We're always grateful.

Thank you very much! ;D
